SHERMAN ANNUAL 1968

FORREST SHERMAN HIGH SCHOOL NAPLES.ITALY

The purpose of this annual is to present a record of the 1967-1968 school year in order that the students may have a vivid memory of the people and places with whom they have had contact in the past year. To the student activity pictures a theme has been added. Pictures of the city in which we live will make the memory

It is our hope that the Sherman Log will accomplish its purpose in recording accurately the 1967-1968 school year at Forrest Sherman.

Capt. John A. Fidel, USN Commanding Officer U.S. Naval Support Activity, Naples, Italy.

One of the pleasures I have enjoyed as Commanding Officer has been my close association with the Forrest Sherman High School administration and students. Although I have not known each of you personally, I know your class by reputation and I am confident that you will carry with you from Forrest Sherman High School the knowledge and character you will need to start you on the road to further success.

Congratulations to each of you and well done for completing four hard years of high school work.

I am the Seniors, mighty, mighty...

Yes, I'm the SENIORS '68!! Why do you ask? Can't you see my SENIOR ring with Forrest Sherman, Naples on the face and that huge 68 on the side? I'm the mighty Class of '68-and don't you ever forget it!! Sure-last year when I knew I'd be the SENIORS 68, I really wasn't too excited. I thought it would just be another year, another grade level. After all-think of all the SENIOR classes that had gone before me. Really-what was so special about being SENIORS?? Then I found out what was so special! Wait until you get your SENIOR ring and start flashing it in front of everyone-then you'll see how every-thing changes for you.

« And everywhere new SENIORS went, their rings were sure to go!! »

Soon SENIORS 67 were gone and I was left to bask alone in the spotlight. Oh-I knew I had a lot of responsibility, but even more, I dreamed of reward. I soon found out that I had a long way to go before achieving that second item, but that's life! (With SENIORS, anyway.)

Then it was September, and I was caught up in a whirlwind of activities. All at once I was faced with Responsibility and even more fearful-Humanities! I was the one everyone looked up to-I was the pace-setter, the policy maker, and to be blunt-the guinea pig for future SE-NIORS. I was the material in the wide, far-reaching experiment conducted by FSHS. But deep inside, I knew I'd receive a token of appreciation from all you underclassmen; I would have my Prom-compliments of the Juniors. It looked as though I was going to enjoy my last year, and I did, School had just begun and I dominated everything. I turned to sports, clubs, activities; captains, queens, officers, scholarsnearly all were SENIORS 68!! For once, I came out on top; SENIORS 68 were in control, Sure-I had to lay foundations, but I didn't mind it because I knew they were strong. September was a time for orientation, football, dances, crosscountry, and pep rallies. I went to football games and yelled for our Wildcats, and I watched cross-country-and in both, it was SENIORS who proved to be stars of the teams. And I velled loudest at the Pep Rallies-« SENIORS are va with it-yeah man!!! ». And I began the long, hard, climb toward SENIOR privileges. Although some of my most desired privileges sort of fell along the road-side, I did get a few. I got my SENIOR cards, I was dismissed early for lunch, which meant my fifth period classes were shortened five minutes-no complaints there, and I even got to eat before the teachers did! After lunch, instead of having to fight my way through the crowding, pushing mobs of underclassmen, I could go up (with an air of superiority) to any one of the SENIOR homerooms and have a stair length head start when the bell rang. That was great unless I happened to be a stair monitor-then I had to push and shove right along with the rest of them. But that was only for a week at a time. Then came Homecoming Week and I decorated my hall beautifully, but somehow the judges must not have seen the hall, because I only came in second place. They must have been too busy looking at my effigy to bother, I guess. Anywayit got first place and so did my Tag boy, and he even got a box of cheer. Once more, SENIORS 68 were in the lead. The day of the big game dawned and the Wildcats roared on to victory for their Queen-who just happened to be a SENIOR! One hundred and thirty-two days to go!

Them came November-I had my SENIOR pictures taken, I went to Paestum, I saw the Madrid game, I beat the Junior boys, part of me made the basketball team, and I had a Fashion Show to make money for my SENIOR trip (don't laugh!!). Yes, November was a great month with a great beginning-I misse. two days of school right in a row! Two days! The first day was for pictures, which I'd just as soon forget about, and the second day I went to Paestum (except for the part of me that was going to smash the Madrid Knights that weekend) had a great time at Paestum exploring all the old ruins (and some of the recent ones, too), and I even left an offering on an empty shelf for the god of Halloween. Of course, I had to leave some kind of offering to him since I was too old and mature to have gone trick-or-treating that year. That weekend our Wildcats really went all out and slaughtered the Knights of Madrid-Madrid!!! They had been undefeated all season, and our great team smeared them! Then my male half decided one day to challenge the Junior boys to a game of basketball and as SENIOR tradition usually goes, I beat them, too. That's right-SENIORS 68 beat the lowly Juniors. Oh, I had a Fashion Show, too that went toward my SENIOR trip to Greece that I didn't have, but at least I tried. One hundred and fourteen days to go.

December proved to be a great month, too; I only went to school for half of it because of the Christmas vacation. I took SAT tests and ACT tests, and neither of them were easy. I put up beautiful Christmas decorations that did place-but who remembers what place? Then came my big event for the year-the Christmas Ball! Just ask anyone-they'll tell you what a great time they had. And soon after that was vacation, wonderful vacation; I had a nice, long rest! One hundred and three days to go!

New Years-what a great time of the yeartime for firecrackers that blow up in your face, time to get rid of all the old stuff you've been saving just to throw out the window, and time for resolutions that you know won't last more than a week. But then to put a shadow on your fun is school, for with the New Year comes the end of vacation. With January, I became more and more apprehensive about college and jobs. What in the world was I going to do? Then I decided maybe it would be a good idea to try applying to a few colleges, so I did. Then I sat back for the long wait. While I was waiting, my female half decided that they'd better prove themselves just as good as the boys, so they challenged the Junior girls to a game of basketball and really outdid the boys, beating the Juniors 38-13. SENIOR skill and know-howthat's all it takes!! But then things turned dark for me; semester exams were near at hand. Need I say more? Eighty-one days to go!

With February came Basketball Homecoming. Before the dance, our Wildcats decided to make it a happy one by stomping the Lions; seems like we always play Livorno for Homecoming Weekend-and they always let us win, too. Our Queen was crowned during the half and as usual, the underclassmen displayed a great deal of intelligence in voting for their Queen-they picked another SENIOR! February as mostly basketball, and the Wildcats finished tied for first (FSHS tradition). Then Tournament popped up and less and less SENIORS were seen in school. (Wonder where they went?) Our Wildcats (especially the SENIOR ones) really did a fabulous job at Tournament and came home with a handful of trophies. Sixty-two days to go!

Coming in like a lamb and seemingly leaving the same way, March rushed by. It was an inactive month for me except for those who made the Drama Club's play, « You Can't Take It With You, » the great success that it was. Oh-I almost forgot-I chose my Who's Who candidates, and took pictures of them for the Annual. I guess March was just smoothing the way for April, Forty-one days to go!

Needless to say, it was soon April, I didn't count on any May flowers because it didn't rain once the whole month. Don't ask me what I'm going to do about corsages for the Prom, though! Then, miracle of miracles, I got my Lounge. It was sort of a shock to me at first-after all it had been seven months. But who's going to complain? I much preferred sitting in the Lounge than being anywhere else. There were Track and Tennis meets, and we remained one of the best. There were dances and dances and dances and dances. I listened to various career lectures on Career Day and couldn't decide which career sounded the most interesting. SENIORS '68 went to Capodimonte, and I slid on the marble floors, looked at famous painting and imagined myself on a horse with tons of armor. I was even mistaken as a group of movie stars and passed out several cherished autographs. Easter vacation came, and I was scattered all over; some of me in Rome, some in Berlin, some in London, and some right here in good ole Napoli! I went to the Student Revue, too, and although it sort of hurts to say it-(but only a little) it was as good as last year's. Twenty-five days to go!

May was wonderful, exciting, and sad. Our last month of high school! For the first time, SENIORS were allowed to vote in the Student Council elections, and I really took advantage of it and did my duty. I wore green at the Carnival and helped to make it a success! I was dunked into water (pretty cold, too), I threw pennies (couldn't afford nickles or dimes), and I really had a great time that weekend. When Honor Day rolled around, I ended up getting a great deal of the awards and was quite proud of myself. I won the Spirit Award, too for the class with the most school spiritremember, « SENIORS are ya with it?... Yeah man!» The night of the Prom soon arrived, and I was well rewarded for all my pains by the Juniors- at lest someone appreciated us. By the way, the boys managed to find some flowers for the corsages, and everyone was happy and pleased. The Annual came out, too, and everyone rushed to buy one! I looked first for my quotations, and then rushed around getting signatures. Four days to go!

It's June now, and I'm still the SENIORS 68no, I haven't given up my seniority yet. Soon I suppose I'll have to, but it'll be hard. You see, I've done a lot this year-loying foundations for going to be terribly difficult to adjust. I think I've done alot this year-laying foundations for other classes to come; I hope I've been of help and a good example. SENIOR exams will be hard, but I'll pull though, as always. I'll be out of school a week before the other classes but I'll miss it. Sure-I'll be free, but I'll miss going to classes, talking with friends, seeing familar faces. Forrest Sherman has come a long wayjust since my Junior year; FSHS has an overall improved image in the eyes of all-residents and strangers alike, and I'm glad to have contributed my small part. Soon I'll be dispersed all aver the United States and Europe, but I'll be as one in the minds and hearts of all my separate components; never will they forget the words « SENIORS 68 » and the memories attached to them. In a few days, I'll be graduating (they call it commencement, but I'll be ending my high school life at the same time); I will be strong during my graduation, and I'll leave a message for all underclassmen: « Be. wise and enjoy your days in high school to their fullest extent, for too soon they are ended.» There are no days to go-my SENIOR year is at its close; I have graduated, and I am ready for the unsheltering world-but I am alone, and I am afraid.

The Annual Staff would like to congratulate and thank all of the student and teachers who through their hard work and determination have made this year's Forrest Sherman Athletic program such a success. We also wish the future Wildcats success in upholding the Forrest Sherman traditions in coming years.

This year the Student Revue was the most successful ever staged by the students of Forrest Sherman High. Hard work by the junior class members of the Student Revue Club, the members of the cast and a select group of seniors who helped with the staging and the technical aspects of the program all contributed to its fantastic success.

LATIN CLUB

This year's Latin Club, under the sponsorship of Miss Tucker has proven to be a very effective club. The members this year have taken a trip to the roman city of Pompeii. To close the year well the Latin Club had a real, authentic Roman dinner.

The Host Nation Club has been one of the most active clubs in our school this year. The members of this club have attended lessons at different Italian schools in Naples and have in turn invited Italian students to visit our school and compare the differed type of school. This has all been accomplished with the help of Mr. Hellmuth and Mr. La Bianca the sponsors.

Robin Smith

Taking a well-earned bow as « Alice Vanderhof »

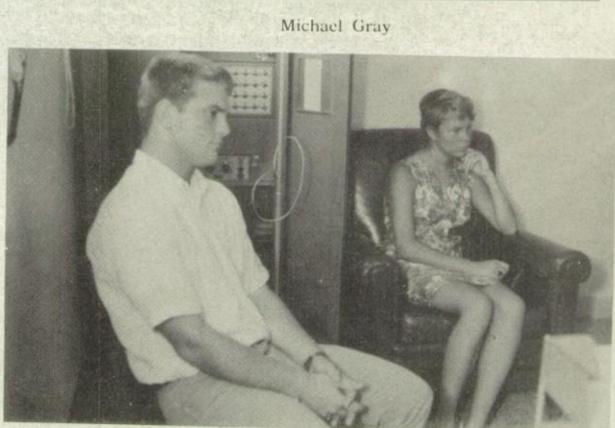

Mouseketeer Robin

Robin Smith came to Forrest Sherman in her Senior year and was immediately acknowledged to be both a superior student and a leader in school activities. Her high scholastic average has earned her the honor of being Valedictorian. She is also vice-president of the National Honor Society. And her service to the school has merited her the additional title of « Student of the Year. » Robin plans to attend the University of Ohio next year and major in Political Science and Art.

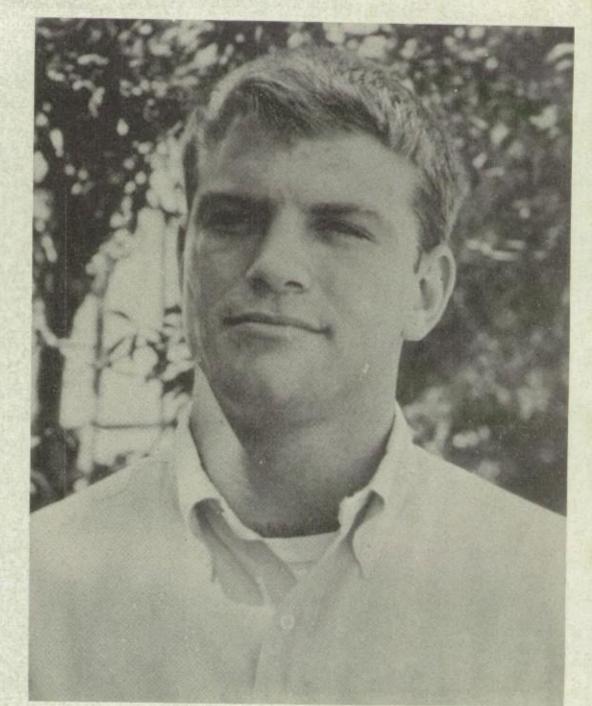

SALUTATORIAN

Muscleman Mike himself

Getting the word on « Senior Privileges »

Mike Gray has held an exceptionally high grade average throughout high school, resulting in being chosen Salutatorian. He has also contributed much to the school through extra-curricular activities. His being chosen « Athlete of the Year » well attests to this, as does his position as President of the Senior Class. Mike received an ROTC Scholarship, which he plans to use by majoring in engineering next year at Stanford.

WELCOME TO NAPLES FROM THE ALLIED OFFICERS' CLUB

The Allied Officers' Club does not charge membership dues. Your club's primary mission is to contribute in some small measure to the pleasure of your tour of duty here. To implement this mission it is necessary for you the member to participate in the various activities of the club. If you will participate in these club activities, club management will strive to make available to you the best in food, entertainment and service. Your support and suggestions, as your stay in Naples progresses, will do much to help us fulfill our mission. Hours of operation of the various club activities are listed for your information. However, to be sure that you know what facilities are available at your club, please visit the office of your club manager so that we may get acquainted and give you a personal tour of the club.

Congratulations to the Class of 1968 for a job well done. Mr. & Mrs. K. Gregory Apkarian Congratulations and Best Wishes to the Class of 1968 from CWO and Mrs. Richard J. Petersen Congratulations to all of you and very best wishes for future successes. John Bacon - Administrative Officer

Congratulations to the Class of 68 in the hope that they are pleased with their Annual.
